What is our Reconnecting Lives Program?

The program provides outreach wrap-around services to support people moving out of St Bart's supported accommodation services or currently living in St Bart's Community Tenancies.

Case managers will work with current consumers to achieve individual, specified goals to assist in the process of securing long-term housing to achieve their goals of living independently in the community.

Support may include:

- Assistance and advice to set-up and maintain a tenancy.
- Completing and understanding the requirements for a rental property.
- Discussions on what makes a good tenant and how to prepare for rental inspections.
- Establishing and exploring good relationships within the local community.
- Employment assistance and advice.
- Help to understand and utilise public transport.
- Assistance with NDIS application.
- Budgeting and finance advice.
- Assistance in crisis situations.

What is the purpose of the program?

The Reconnecting Lives Program is a pilot program which aims to assist consumers in securing sustainable, long-term housing to achieve their goals of living independently within the community.

Through an innovative, housing-led and person-centred approach, the Reconnecting Lives Program has three phases of support:

- Proactive Support:
Weekly individual case management.
- Light Touch Support:
Fortnightly catch-up, phone or face-to-face.
- Preventative Support:
Monthly check-in and crisis assistance.

At any stage, the support is flexible and able to be adjusted to suit your individual needs.
