The James Watson Centre is a residential aged care centre where consumers can find a safe and supportive environment with access to a care plan centred on their preferences and needs.

Since 1963, St Bart's has continuously provided accommodation and care for men who are homeless or at risk of homelessness.

In October 2012, the centre moved from Brown to Lime Street, East Perth, and increased in capacity to a specialised, government approved, 40-bed residential and care provider.

Our central position in a prime inner city location, is in close proximity to essential medical services (including Royal Perth Hospital), as well as shops, public transport, libraries and community centres.

"St Bart's was a lifeline for me, offering options of alternative accommodation when I needed it most"
